BATTLE FIELDS

HARLOW Council is preparing to mount a legal challenge against controversial plans to build 1,200 new homes on fields bordering Old Harlow.

It is poised to act after developers behind proposals for the 62-hectare site off Gilden Way appealed to the Planning Inspectorate following the council's failure to determine their application – originally submitted in February last year – within the statutory 16-week period.

The move means the council has lost its authority to approve or reject the plans, with the ultimate decision now resting on the outcome of an external planning inquiry.

But barring a revolt at last night's development management committee meeting – which was held after the Star went to press – the council is set to fight the appeal on the grounds the submitted plans are "premature" in advance of an impending Governmental review of local planning blueprints

Other arguments for objection put before members by council planning officers included the scheme's potential to encroach onto Green Belt land, the applicants' failure to demonstrate adequate educational and healthcare resources would be provided and concerns over the impact of increased traffic.

Speaking ahead of last night's meeting, committee chairman Shona Johnson said the council was surprised the developers had lodged an appeal.

"Officers were in negotiations with the applicant and were waiting for further information before the council could determine the application," she said. "Therefore, the council is surprised that the applicants have appealed against its non-determination."

"While the planning inquiry will now determine the application, under planning law the council's development management committee has to consider the application as part of its case for the appeal."

The proposals have already provoked a public outcry from residents living in Old Harlow and Churchgate Street. They argue that the development would cause traffic chaos, destroy an area of natural beauty, encroach on neighbouring sites of historical interest and put additional pressure on overstretched health facilities.

Head brands laptop thieves 'greedy and heartless'

THE headteacher of a Harlow secondary school has described theft of computers from one of his classrooms as "a direct attack on our children's futures".

Staff at Passmores Academy, in Tracys Road, discovered the 30 Hewlett Packard laptop computers worth around £20,000 were missing last Tuesday morning.

Police believe the thieves gained entry to the building by forcing open the windows in the classroom some time between 10pm the previous night and 6am.

appealed to the public for help to catch those responsible.

"I am at a loss to understand how any group of people can feel so little for the future of our town and wider community to do something so destructive to the education of our young people," he said.

"To attack a school in such a manner for greed is heartless. I am appealing to our community to keep their ears to the ground for any signs of the laptops being moved on to other people. If you are in a pub and somebody offers you a cheap laptop please let us know."

Mr Goddard, whose appearance in the recent Channel 4 documentary series Educating Essex won him widespread plaudits within the teaching profession, added: "I am dedicated to providing our young people with a safe and secure environment but today I feel that I haven't achieved this."

"We work to improve the lives of our young people and to help make Harlow a place that we can all be proud of but I am embarrassed for the community I serve."

"Help us to find out who did this as this is a direct attack on our children's futures."

Investigating officer PC

Laurence Turton, of Harlow police, said: "I am appealing for anyone who is offered a secondhand Hewlett Packard laptop for sale or knows where they might be sold on, to contact us."

"We will be able to eliminate any genuine sales from our enquiries. Police are in possession of all the serial numbers for the computers. I would also like to remind people that handling stolen goods is a crime."

Anyone with any information is urged to contact PC Turton at Harlow police station on 101 or Crimestoppers on 0800 555111.

Rapist drugged and then filmed victims

By COURT REPORTER
star@hertsexsexnews.co.uk

A SEX fiend found guilty of drugging, raping and sexually assaulting teenage girls is facing an indefinite jail sentence.

Samuel Little (25), of Broadfields, Harlow, was charged with a total of 11 offences of making indecent images, rape, indecent assault, attempted rape, supplying drugs and supplying drugs with intent to commit an offence.

He pleaded not guilty to all but was convicted of two rapes, possession of indecent photos, indecent assault, supply of a controlled drug and supply of a drug with intent to commit an offence.

During his trial at Chelmsford Crown Court the jury was told Little had filmed one of his victims while she was drugged and lying helpless on a bed and had then uploaded the film to the internet.

Andrew Jackson, prosecuting, said Little – nicknamed 'Pervy Pedro' – targeted a number of young girls for his own sexual gratification. He posed as a photographer and said he made pornographic films.

"He plied victims with drink and drugs in order to render them compliant," said Mr Jackson. "Some victims didn't know they were being drugged until it was too late. Video footage recorded by him showed him supplying one with cannabis in order to sexually abuse her."

He said Little's activities came to light in 2010 after he showed video footage of one of the incidents to a friend who recognised the girl involved.

After he was arrested police seized his laptop computer on which they found a file showing the abuse. He had sent that video footage to other people via internet chatrooms.

Little claimed any sexual contact with the girls was consensual and that he had not supplied drugs but had "shared" some.

Judge Karen Walden-Smith adjourned sentence for reports to determine how dangerous he was, but she warned him: "This could mean an indeterminate sentence."

Speaking outside the court at the end of the trial, Detective Constable Nick Rhodes of Essex Police said the conviction was the culmination of a 24-month police investigation.

"Samuel Little has, over almost a decade, preyed on the vulnerability of young females, befriending them whilst taking advantage to facilitate his crimes," he said.

"Aided by the supply of alcohol and drugs, he carried out a number of crimes on unsuspecting, incapacitated victims. This conviction provides a foundation for all the females who were his victims to rebuild their lives following years on unrest."

Dogs take a lead in hospice fundraiser

A FUNDRAISING dog walk in aid of St Clare Hospice proved a howling success after more than 270 people and their pets took part.

Sunday's Winter Walkies event saw the participants brave the chilly January temperature to complete a 5km route, starting and finishing at the Hastingwood hospice. They then thawed out with warm drinks and homemade cakes. A raffle with special canine-related prizes was also drawn and judges announced the winners for the 2012 best wellies and best dressed dog awards.

"Despite it being a misty cold morning we were thrilled at how many people came along to join us," said events fundraiser Tracy Stratford.

"It was great seeing so many people make an effort with their footwear for our best wellies competition and also the dogs in their outfits for the best dressed dog competition."

The walk raised more than £3,500 for the hospice.

Make the most of your local library

ESSEX County Council is urging people who are not currently a member of their local library to find out what they are missing.

This Saturday (February 4) is National Libraries Day which aims to raise awareness about the range of resources available to people who make use of their library.

County councillor Jeremy Lucas, cabinet member for environment and culture said: "If you haven't stepped foot in a library for some time you may well be surprised by the fantastic range of services available."

"There are many benefits to membership and I'd encourage anyone who isn't a member to drop in and find out what they've been missing."

Are you fit for Kate's bootcamp challenge?

By VICKY LANE

PEOPLE prepared to take on a challenge in aid of charity are being called up for a day of no-nonsense fitness training.

Keep fit instructor Kate Stanley (29), of Challinor, Harlow, is looking for recruits to take part in a fundraising Bootcampathon next weekend.

The event is being run by Kate and her husband Gary, who own personal training company Stanley4fitness. The aim is to raise money for Get Kids Going, the charity for which Kate is running this year's London Marathon.

"Get Kids Going is a fantastic organisation which gives disabled children and young people the opportunity to participate in a whole assortment of sports," she explained.

"As a fitness instructor who runs children's bootcamps I have always been extremely passionate about getting kids active, so I was only too keen to take one of their marathon places and help raise money.

"Furthermore, my brother had spina bifida and sadly passed away when he was just 20 months old. It really means a lot to me to help others suffering similar conditions to be able to get more enjoyment out of life."

Run by four fully-trained instructors, the Bootcampathon aims to be a fun but demanding event for people over 18. It will feature a mixture of high-endurance fitness programs.

"Everyone taking part will definitely work up a sweat," said Kate. "It will be really fun and rewarding and give everyone involved a massive fitness boost.

"Of course it will also be raising money for a brilliant cause, with all profits raised on the day donated to Get Kids Going."

She added: "There aren't many slots left to fill but I am determined to have a full team so would urge anyone up for a challenge to secure their place as soon as possible."

The Bootcampathon is taking place next Saturday (February 11) at Burnt Mill School, which has donated its hall free of charge. The day, which runs from 8am to 2pm, costs £30 and includes lunch, refreshments and a souvenir T-shirt.

For more information or to book a place visit www.stanley4fitness.com or call (01279) 424471.

Search for people willing to take a leap of faith

ADRENALINE junkies with a head for heights are being urged to jump at the chance to raise money for St Clare Hospice.

The Hastingwood hospice is hoping to recruit 15 fearless individuals to freefall 10,000ft in a fundraising tandem skydive.

Participants brave enough to sign up for the sky-high challenge, which is taking place on Saturday, April 14 at Peterborough Airfield, need to raise a minimum £395 in sponsorship, £130 of which will instantly go towards funding the hospice's specialist care.

One daredevil who has already made the jump in aid of St Clare's is 26-year-old Lindsey Bertram of Fifth Avenue, Harlow.

"It was just brilliant, one of the best experiences of my life," said Lindsey, pictured right. "It was actually my mum, who is a volunteer at St Clare, who was meant to be doing the skydive at first but she had to pull out at the last minute and I was left to take over!"

"It was incredible though and made even better by knowing that I was doing it for a good cause. Obviously through mum I am very aware of St Clare's incredible work and only too happy to help where I can."

She added: "It really is a once in a lifetime experience and I would encourage anyone thinking about doing a skydive to just go for it. You won't regret it."

For more about taking part in the skydive, call Tracy Stratford on (01279) 773750 or email fund@stclarehospice.org.uk.

Rescue charity's lottery windfall

A VOLUNTEER organisation which helps to reunite families with missing relatives is increasing its support services after receiving a £4,500 grant.

Harlow-based charity Search Dogs Essex works alongside rescue organisations across the county to help locate missing vulnerable people with help from their specially-trained canines.

The group, which is registered with Lowland Search Dogs, was awarded the money from the Big Lottery Fund to pay for the training and licensing of scent discrimination dogs to accompany Essex Police.

Once fully trained, the dogs will be able to follow the trail of a person up to 24 hours after they went missing.

Group chairman Karin Jung said: "We are really proud and grateful to be awarded the funding for a training project that will lead to a hopefully excessive benefit for the Essex community."

For more information about Search Dogs Essex's work, visit its website at www.searchdogsexsex.org.uk.

Foodbank seeking to boost its stock

A CHARITY helping to provide emergency food parcels to people in a crisis is setting up a dedicated food collection point this weekend.

Harlow Foodbank is asking residents to help them boost their stock by donating non-perishable foodstuffs at a stand in the Tesco store at Church Langely on Friday and Saturday.

"We really need things like long-life milk and juices, sugar, tinned meat, vegetables, puddings, tea and coffee," said director of community services Gary Knott.

"We always get a lot of baked beans so don't need as many of those but basically anything else non-perishable that helps to make a nutritional balanced meal we will happily accept."

He added: "All the food goes towards supporting local people that have been caught short because of a sudden change in their lives. We support them until they get back on their feet."

Volunteers from the charity will be at Tesco between 9.30am and 5pm.

Winning numbers

THE winner of the £1,000 prize in the St Clare Hospice lottery drawn on Friday, January 27 is ticket holder 337954, who lives in Harlow.

The second prize of £100 goes to the holder of ticket number 856478, who also lives in Harlow.

Services shake-up to follow handover

By VICKY LANE

vicky.lane@hertssexnews.co.uk

FIVE of Harlow's most popular council-run services are set to undergo a radical overhaul after they are taken over by new operators.

Plans to offload Pets' Corner, Harlow Museum, Parndon Wood Nature Reserve and the town's arts and events services to the voluntary sector were unanimously approved by Harlow Council's cabinet on Tuesday night.

The move, which could potentially save the authority more than £400,000 over a three-year period, must now be ratified by the full council at next Thursday's budget meeting for changes to start being implemented.

Council leader Andrew Johnson said yesterday (Wednesday): "Cabinet has referred the decision on the budget and discretionary services to next week's full council. At this meeting councillors will be given the opportunity to debate the proposals.

"Despite the financial pressures the council faces, these proposals really put residents first with a zero per cent increase in council tax for the third year running and plans to keep popular discretionary services going by transferring the management of five of them to new providers."

Harlow Museum will undergo the biggest transformation when it is taken over by the Science Alive organisation from April. Plans for a combined science and heritage exhibition to be installed at the group's Leisurezone headquarters will mean visitors to the museum service will be charged for the first time.

The entrance fee, likely to be around £4 per child and £5 per adult, will include access to all of the group's usual exhibitions as well as to collections rotated from archive storage at the museum's current Mark Hall premises.

A system to enable access to museum exhibits not on display for conservation and academic research purposes is under discussion.

FLASHBACK: Last week's Star

variation and academic research purposes is under discussion.

New operators for the other four services have each pledged to keep them running in a similar way to the present but with several improvements. These include catering facilities at Parndon Wood Nature Reserve, the re-introduction of the Town Show and an increased educational link at Pets' Corner.

But while Harlow MP Robert Halfon applauded the decision to transfer discretionary services, his Labour opponent Suzy Stride warned the move could put their long-term future in jeopardy.

Mr Halfon said: "I welcome these proposals because essentially they mean that popular services like Pets' Corner will continue running in the community for the community on a not-for-profit basis.

"It is savings made from tough decisions like these which mean council tax can be frozen in Harlow for a third year running. At a time when people are facing increasing economic strain everything must be done to try and keep that council tax frozen to make things easier."

He added: "I think given the extreme current economic pressures currently being faced by Harlow Council that to have ensured important services remain in community hands as well as being able to freeze tax again is extraordinary."

But Ms Stride told the Star: "It is wrong that Harlow Council is making decisions about the future of services without properly consulting local people. I know how special Pets' Corner, Harlow Museum, the Gibberd Gallery and Parndon Wood are to local people and they should have a say in what happens to them.

"We need answers from the council on the long-term future of these much loved attractions, and we need reassurances that they will still be free for people to visit and that no one will be left without a job as a result of this outsourcing."

Meeting is a chance to quiz councillors

RESIDENTS can learn more about Harlow Council's plans for the future of the town's discretionary services at a public meeting next Friday (February 10).

The meeting at the Civic Centre will give people the chance to question senior councillors about Harlow Museum, Parndon Wood Nature Reserve, Pets' Corner and the town's arts and events services, all of which have been transferred to new providers.

Councillor Joel Charles, portfolio holder for community and citizenship, said: "We know how attached people are to facilities they have grown up with over the years so we think it's absolutely right to provide a public forum where we can provide a clear update about what we are proposing and why.

"We have gone from a position where popular services faced closure to one where Harlow organisations are working with us to secure their long-term future."

The meeting will begin at 7pm in the council chamber. Admission is limited to 150 places and seats must be reserved in advance by calling (01279) 446302 or emailing angela.street@harlow.gov.uk.

MP fights to save solar panel scheme

HARLOW MP Robert Halfon has called for the introduction of a community tariff to revive the town's recently scrapped solar panel scheme.

Around 1,200 council properties across Harlow were due to have new photovoltaic panels installed by Kier Harlow free of charge to reduce the town's carbon footprint and cut household energy bills by up to £190 a year.

However, the council-backed project had to be shelved after the Government announced it was cutting payments from its Feed in Tariff scheme used to finance the initiative.

Speaking during an energy questions session at the House of Commons, Mr Halfon asked Energy Secretary

Chris Huhne whether anything could be done to introduce a specialised tariff that would allow projects such as the Kier Harlow initiative to go ahead.

Mr Halfon said: "There are hundreds of Harlow residents in social housing who were promised solar power panels but the new rate is too low for the scheme to be viable."

In his response, Mr Huhne said there had been a "collapse" in the cost of solar panels which no longer made such schemes economically viable. He added separate support to community schemes was not possible because of legislation passed by the previous government.

Battle looming over Gilden Way housing

and 739 letters of objection have been sent to the council, with hundreds of protestors taking to the streets last summer to campaign against the development.

Harlow Civic society chairman Stan Newens, who has helped co-ordinate public protests against the scheme, said local residents were prepared to fight "tooth and nail" to quash the proposals.

"I'm encouraged by the fact it now seems likely we'll have Harlow Council on our side in fighting this unsustainable development," he said.

"What we are trying to do has nothing to do with NIMBYism. It's about protecting important historical sites, saving an area of natural beauty from being bulldozed and preventing even more strain on our congested road network and overstretched health facilities.

"We're not opposed to new homes being built in Harlow but this is clearly the wrong site."

The spokesman for the development consortium of Persimmon, Taylor Wimpey and Barratt was unavailable for comment as the Star went to press yesterday.

Our 'beards' were stuck on with glue

IT didn't take long for someone to spot a familiar face in the photograph of Harlow's post-war celebrations of 1945 which we featured a couple of weeks ago.

Sawbridgeworth resident Sheila Blake (nee Austin) instantly recognised two of the young children at the front of the photo showing off their war-themed fancy dress costumes – herself and her sister Grace, circled.

"I am the child on the left dressed as Uncle Sam and Grace, next to me, was John Bull," she explained. "I was nearly six years old and my sister four."

"My mother was a dab hand at needlework and made both our costumes which, if I remember, rightly got us both some sort of prize.

"I remember that she also insisted on gluing cotton wool to our faces as beards and it being quite painful to get off!"

According to Sheila, who is now aged 72 and a grandmother to five, her family came to Harlow to join her grandparents after being bombed out of their home in Plaistow.

"I was very young at the time but apparently my mum had to dig me out from under the rubble," she said. "We were very lucky and certainly had a lot to celebrate by the end of the war."

Unfortunately not everyone was able to take part in the end of war celebrations. Many – like Sheila's father David – were still to return home.

"Our father was a prisoner of war in Austria," she said. "He had to spend some time in hospital at the end so wasn't home when we had the celebrations. He made a full recovery, though."

Sheila added: "I remember it was a really nice, sunny day when we had the party and there were activities like apple bobbing and donkey rides. Everyone came together and had a lot of fun."

Workers' day trip to the seaside with kiss-me-quick hats and fish and chips

WERE you ever the owner of a kiss-me-quick hat?

According to Joy Murray, who lent Nostalgia this photo of her mum Glad Skinner posing in one of the popular headgear alongside work colleagues, no seaside trip was quite complete without one of the novelty fashion accessories. Joy, whose mum is pictured third from the right in the picture, said the group from Harlow glassmakers Key Glassworks were on one of their annual works outings at the time.

"I think the photo must have been taken around 1956 and probably in somewhere like Southend," she explained. "They used to go on their work beans – or coach trips – to the seaside about once a year and usually got a kiss-me-quick hat for a bit of fun." Joy, who now lives near Cambridge, said the excursions were a jolly affair for the ladies who worked in the carton room at the Glassworks factory packing boxes.

"Mum really enjoyed the days out," she said. "They would do all the usual seaside stuff that people did in the 1950s like eating fish and chips and visiting the arcades. I think they would also usually have a glass of something; it looks like mum is enjoying a beer in this picture!"

She added: "It was an adult-only affair though I remember I used to get really excited because mum would always bring us back a present. I still have some stored away."

25 years ago in the Star

Police in Harlow were this week dealing with a mini crimewave which broke out in the town. In separate incidents a safe and £34,000 worth of cigarettes were stolen, a bag of shop takings was snatched, a garage attendant was threatened with a piece of wood by robbers and a man was assaulted outside a nightclub.

Jobless residents may man the doomed unemployment centre in an attempt to keep it open. The group have just 12 days to act before the Wych Elm centre loses its funding from Manpower Services after it refused to take political posters off its noticeboards.

A 31-year-old man is recovering in Princess Alexandra Hospital after his brand new BMW plunged into the River Stort near The Moorhen pub. The man managed to escape from the vehicle unaided and walked into the hospital early last Tuesday suffering from hypothermia. The £11,000 car took three hours to retrieve from the river.

The go-ahead for a 38-bedroom hotel to be built next to Harlow Mill restaurant was warmly welcomed by councillors this week. The development proposal put forward by Beefeater, which is part of the Whitbread group, only received one letter of objection.

Group wants rethink over waste plant site

By VICKY LANE

vicky.lane@hertsessexnews.co.uk

AN action group campaigning against the construction of a waste transfer plant less than 250 yards from a Harlow primary school is calling on Essex County Council to consider alternative sites for the development.

Despite proposals for the controversial new waste station on the Templefields industrial estate in West Road being passed by ECC's development and regulation committee last year, more than 150 residents, local business owners and representatives of Tany's Dell Primary School have continued their campaign against the project.

Supporters of the group, which has concerns over increased traffic, noise, pollution and vermin, want the county council to look at what they feel is a far more appropriate location for a waste station.

"We accept that a new waste transfer station is coming to Harlow but still do not accept that it is being put in the right location or that possible alternatives have been properly explored," said group leader Michael Hustwitt, who fears his business will be affected if the development goes ahead.

"We have done our research and found a site for sale in River Way that is not only more than big enough to accommodate the station but also already contains two other waste plants so it already has a system in place that works.

"It quite obviously makes better sense to put the new waste site there. Even the county councillors agreed when we spoke to them last year, but of course we know it all comes down to money because they have already invested in the other site.

"However, we still feel there is a chance and are determined to keep fighting right up until that first brick is laid."

OUR FIGHT GOES ON:

Hundreds caught in crackdown on TV licence cheats

HUNDREDS of people in Harlow were caught watching television without a licence last year, according to new figures published this week.

A total of 690 licence dodgers were caught by the authorities after failing to pay the £145.50 fee. Those found to be cheating the system face prosecution and fines of up to £1,000.

Pauline Gillingham, TV Licensing spokesperson for the south east, said "TV viewing is as popular as ever, and it's our role to make sure everyone is aware of when they need to be covered by a licence.

"On behalf of licence fee-payers in Harlow we are committed to tackling evasion and enforcing the law amongst the small minority who should pay but don't. It's only fair.

"People are given every opportunity to pay but if they fail to do so and watch TV illegally we will seek a prosecution. It's really not worth the risk."

Harlow MP Robert Halfon, who has been supporting the action group's campaign, said it was frustrating the county council seemed unwilling to contemplate other locations.

"I am strongly of the view that this waste station should not be dumped on Harlow in this place," he said. "Residents feel that there has not been proper consultation or consideration of alternate sites.

"I think Essex County Council needs to go back to the drawing board and start again."

But county councillor Kevin Bentley, cabinet member for economic development and waste, said: "I can confirm Essex County Council will be progressing with the development of the Harlow waste transfer station at the West Road location in Harlow where planning permission has already been secured.

"We did investigate two alternative options brought to our attention as was promised at the public meeting back in November but the site at West Road remains the most appropriate and the only practical option to cover the required waste transfer needs in the area.

"The former Harlow Park Nursery site was unsuitable because it is Green Belt land. The old Harlow Cemex site in River Way was unsuitable because the land was insufficient for the council's needs."

Holocaust stone unveiled during memorial service

By VICKY LANE

vicky.lane@hertsessexnews.co.uk

RESIDENTS joined church leaders and local dignitaries at a Holocaust Memorial Day service in Harlow on Friday.

Harlow MP Rob Halfon and council chairman Mike Garnett were among more than 70 people who gathered to pay tribute at the Holocaust Memorial Garden in Waterhouse Moor.

Rabbi Irit Shillor spoke of the importance of remembering victims of all genocides as well as those who lost their lives at the hands of the Nazis during the Second World War.

During the service Mr Halfon unveiled a new granite memorial to replace the bronze plaque stolen shortly before Christmas.

The commemorative stone, which cost approximately £1,000, carries the same inscription as the original plaque with the addition of the Hebrew word for "Remember".

Speaking after the service, Harlow Town chaplain Robert Findlay said it was important to learn from the lessons of the past in order to create a better future.

"Today we remind ourselves that one of the great purposes of life is to love our neighbour as we love ourselves irrespective of race, colour or creed," he said.

Cllr Garnett said he was pleased the authority had been able to replace the memorial plaque in time for the dedication ceremony.

"Those people who plundered the original plaque clearly cared only for a quick profit and neither knew nor cared about the Holocaust," he said.

"What Friday's event showed is that Harlow's community is a strong one. We joined our Jewish friends along with councillors and the town's MP to dedicate the new stone in what is a very tranquil spot and one I would urge people to visit."

Pupils moved by story of man who survived Nazi genocide

STUDENTS at Burnt Mill Academy were stunned into silence when a Holocaust survivor gave them a frank insight into the horrors of life under the Nazi regime.

As part of the academy's commemorations for Holocaust Memorial Day, Kindertransport survivor Hermann Hirschberger told pupils about the terror of growing up as a young Jewish boy in Nazi Germany.

Although Mr Hirschberger

was one of the 10,000 children who escaped to England in 1939 on a Kindertransport rescue mission, he later discovered both his parents had died in Auschwitz.

History teacher Lee Bradbury said the session was an important way of making students understand the problem of racially-motivated violence.

"It is the second year a Holocaust survivor has come in to talk to our students and it again had them all sitting in stunned silence," he said.

"With anti-Semitism on the rise, I believe it's one of the most important elements of the history curriculum and a good way to get the students to understand how important this issue is."

51 motorists caught using their mobiles

By CHRIS MOSS, News Editor
chris.moss@hertsessexnews.co.uk

MORE than 250 motorists were stopped by police as part of an ongoing crackdown on driving offences.

Officers were positioned at the Harlow junction of the M11 as well as various locations across the town on Thursday to carry out roadside checks.

Mobile patrols were also on the road in a bid to raise safety awareness and catch drivers committing motor-ing offences.

By the end of the day a total of 51 motorists had been stopped for driving while using a mobile phone and 89 for failing to wear a seatbelt.

More than half of those stopped for the seatbelt offence had their fixed penalty notices quashed after agreeing to attend a half-hour road safety session at the Latton Bush Centre.

Fifteen vehicles were found to have no MOT and several others were seized because drivers had no insurance.

The operation – dubbed Surround A Town – was part of the Essex Casualty Reduction Board's 'No Excuse' campaign and was backed by Essex Fire & Rescue Service, Essex County Council, trading standards, HM Revenue and Customs and British Transport Police.

County councillor Tracey Chapman, cabinet member for high-ways and transportation and chairman of the ECRB, said the campaign was an effective way of reducing the number of people killed or seriously injured on the county's road network.

"Our second event as part of the 'No Excuse' campaign was just as successful as the launch in Chelmsford," she said. "In fact, more people were stopped for using their mobile phones and not wearing seat-belts."

"We're reminding people that partners in the Essex Casualty Reduction Board can be anywhere and at any time and we will continue to target driving offences such as the use of mobile phones, seatbelts and speed-ing."

Bank boss presents walk cash to school

A BUSINESS manager has presented £775 to a school for youngsters with special needs after completing a 10-mile charity walk.

Khaled Khan, who works at the Harlow town centre branch of the NatWest, joined 17 other managers from across the region to take part in the half-day trek across Luton last summer in aid of Harlow Fields School and College, in Tending Road.

Mr Khan, who is a governor at the school, said the walk had been a lot harder than expected.

"It was a really hot day and just seemed to take forever," he said. "When I finally got to sit down at the end I couldn't get back up again!"

Mr Khan presented the cheque to the school's community liaison officer Mick Granger.

"Harlow Fields does an incredible job and I am happy to help them in any way I can," he said. "It is also lovely that so many people wanted to help this great cause. I want to say a big thank you to all the businesses and customers who donated so generously."

Police seek witnesses to robbery in town centre

POLICE are appealing for witnesses after a man was robbed in Harlow town centre.

The robbery took place in Post Office Road at 2.10pm last Wednesday when the victim was approached by a man demanding cash. He stole a four-figure sum and a paying-in book before making his getaway in a white van.

The suspect is described as Asian and aged 21-40. He was wearing a long sleeved jacket, blue denim jeans and black shoes.

PC Garry Bray, of Harlow police, said: "This incident occurred in broad daylight at a fairly busy time. I am appealing for anyone who was in the area at the time of the incident to contact me."

Anyone with any information can contact PC Bray at Harlow police station on 101.

Crash driver died of natural causes

AN investigation into the circumstances surrounding the death of a driver following a road traffic accident has concluded he died from natural causes.

The white Ford Escort van struck a lamppost in Edinburgh Way at about 9am on Sunday, January 22.

The driver was taken to Princess Alexandra Hospital but died shortly after being admitted.

After the accident police issued an appeal for witnesses to the collision but have now closed the case after a post mortem examination showed that he had died after falling ill at the wheel and not as a result of any injuries sustained in the crash.

Too little money invested in new council housing

SIR, I totally agree with the letter last week ("Why are we having to pay again for council houses?", January 26) and would like to add that the £210m debt Harlow Council tenants are paying is part of an original £17bn debt from the previous Labour government and is now a fictitious £30bn debt.

The interest paid on this debt will go to paying off the banking crisis in which Harlow Council tenants played no part. I would add that since 1979 with the Right to Buy, privatisation and stamp duty, different governments have pocketed £68bn. The effect has been a housing crisis for Harlow residents, with very little money invested in new build council housing.

We are also asked to suffer a 7.3 per cent above inflation rent increase and similar rent increases until 2015/16 to converge with formula RPI.

Harlow Council tenants may be subject to more means testing on housing waiting lists and fixed term tenancies should this council adopt the proposed perimeters.

Mick Patrick, chairman
Harlow Defend Council Housing
Hull Grove, Harlow

Tethered horses still a cause for concern

SIR, I wrote a letter to Harlow Council regarding my concerns about the horses tethered in Katherines Way. I was informed that as the land is not owned and looked after by the council, they are not allowed to ask the owners to remove them or to pass concerns on to the owners.

I am concerned for these animals' welfare. They have no shade in the summer and often no water. They have no shelter or dry area in the winter, are out in all weathers and permanently tied up.

How do the owners get away with this treatment of their horses?

My daughter was kicked and knocked to the ground by one of these horses when she was little when we were just feeding it. She did nothing to provoke the attack and could have been killed. Luckily she was only briefly knocked unconscious but suffered a serious break to her arm which required surgery and cuts and bruises to her face.

I know my daughter is not the only one to have been injured by these horses. They have miserable lives and are, therefore, unpredictable in their behaviour.

Can we put an end to all this?

Labour in denial over sorry state of affairs

SIR, Ed Miliband is right to highlight Harlow's "spiralling youth unemployment" (Star, January 26). But one would like to think that in his quest to regain our trust he would have apologised for Labour's part in this sorry state of affairs. Or would he have us believe that all our ills can be placed at the door of the bankers?

The truth is we were spending way more than we earned long before the banking crisis. And it wasn't the bankers who opened our borders to uncontrolled immigration.

Mr Miliband complains that the coalition Government is cutting too fast and too deep but the rest of the world and our historically low borrowing rates suggest otherwise. What's more, according to official statistics, there are more people working in the UK today than when Labour were in power. The problem is an increasing number of them were not born here.

Equally worrying is that local employers prefer foreigners because they are better qualified and have the right attitude to work. Given that Tony Blair said education would be at the heart of a Labour government, it rather begs the question of whether the extra billions were well spent?

Every year we are told that our kids are getting higher grades yet prospective employers complain that they have to educate their new employees in basic English and maths. One in three university graduate vacancies are left unfilled because students are leaving college with unsuitable degrees.

Clearly, Harlow's "spiralling youth unemployment" is the fault of a Labour government that spent money we didn't have on a failing education system and which actively promoted an unsustainable rate of immigration.

Labour may be in denial but we have in Robert Halfon an MP who is actually doing something constructive. He is promoting apprenticeships that will equip our young with the right tools and connect them with employers desperate for skilled workers, and is working to cut immigration. I know who has my trust.

Andy Shannon Willowfield, Harlow

SIR, Sorry but did I miss something? During his visit to Harlow Labour leader Ed Miliband had the gall to lambast the coalition as being "out of touch" because of the shortage of social housing in Harlow.

Forgive me but one of the reasons why so many of my constituents in Staple Tye are waiting for an affordable home to rent is because during 13 (yes, 13) years of a Labour government his party did so little to tackle this serious problem. In fact, housebuilding in the UK reached its lowest ebb during the dying days of his unlamented government.

If Mr Miliband wants to win the trust of Harlow voters he could do no better than publicly admit that the Labour Party failed the town's most disadvantaged residents.

But as we all know, both nationally and locally, Labour politicians don't do apologies.

Cllr Guy Mitchinson (Conservative) Staple Tye, Harlow

Room for improvement at town railway station

SIR, The waiting room at Harlow Town station has been given an award for the best in the region.

It has no doors, no noticeable heating and windows that do not open. What, perchance, are the other waiting rooms in the region like?

Patrick Streeter

Why such a long wait at pedestrian crossing?

SIR, Can someone from the highways department please take notice that you do not need to stop cars for 40 seconds for pedestrians to cross over the road by the Leisurezone.

I often get stuck there after work. That road has always had a lot of congestion at that time but with the addition of these lights it is ridiculous.

It doesn't seem like a long time but walk for 40 seconds and see how far you can get.

With the lights on the corner for the bus lane and these lights, the congestion in this town is going to get worse. And let's face it, at some point there will be the addition of roadworks.

More thought please.

Thief chaser deserves some sort of reward

SIR, I just had to write to say what a brave man Brian Baker is ("Brian gives chase to foil bronze thieves", January 26).

He should be put forward for a reward for putting his life on the line over something for which he could not have known the outcome.

We need more people like him on our streets in Harlow.

Peter Spring

Thank you for all your help during cat attack

SIR, May I, through the Star, say a massive thank you to all the people who came to my assistance when my cat was being savaged by three dogs.

It was a traumatic experience but neighbours, a passing motorist, nurses at Forest Veterinary Centre and staff at Princess Alexandra Hospital all deserve praise. I am only sorry that I was too shocked and upset to express my gratitude at the time.

Carol Ansbridge Kingsland, Harlow

I'm so grateful for the care I received at PAH

SIR, Last week I was rushed into Princess Alexandra Hospital having suffered a suspected heart attack.

At a time when we read in a newspaper, watch on television or hear on the radio about the apparent poor services delivered by the NHS, may I thank every member of the accident and emergency unit and staff on Fleming Ward for the wonderful care and attention I received whilst being diagnosed and subsequent treatment during my stay.

Well done PAH and the NHS.

C. J. Brookwell

By Cllr Andrew Johnson Leader, Harlow Council

We're working with the community for benefit of the town

MONDAY was, I read in several papers, the happiest of the year so far. This is because most people have received their first pay cheque of 2012 and we are all starting to book our summer holidays.

I don't know if you experienced a sudden rush of joy on Monday - I suspect for most people, January pay packets are mopping up December's costs - but here at the Civic Centre there is at least one bill we can keep a lid on: council tax.

As the Star reported last week, we are keeping to a zero per cent council tax rise despite having to find an extra £1.8m in savings. We've done that through cutting bureaucratic costs and making the council more efficient - for example, moving staff out of leasing buildings into office space we already own.

The public rightfully expects us to be as efficient as possible. In a climate where it hurts people to fill their car at the petrol station, councils need a pretty compelling argument to convince voters why council tax should be increased.

One key way we are balancing the books is by transferring at least five of our popular services - the museum, Pets' Corner, Parndon Wood Nature Reserve, the arts service and our events venues - to new providers.

The council is holding a public meeting next Friday [February 10] to update local people on what's happening with this process. We are working with voluntary and charitable organisations to keep these services running so this really is a case of council and community coming up with a solution.

TALKING of community, it was great to see the new Holocaust memorial stone unveiled at the study centre on Friday. You'll recall the original bronze version was stolen in December.

Thieves and vandals may not care about Harlow but replacing the stolen plaque and gathering together for a dedication event for its replacement sends the clear signal that we won't allow their selfish actions to deface our town.

PAH chosen as test centre for intensive care exams

HEALTH chiefs will be hoping to raise the international profile of Harlow's Princess Alexandra Hospital after it was made a test centre for doctors attempting to secure a key qualification in intensive care.

PAH is one of just 12 UK hospitals selected to host exams for the European Diploma in Intensive Care Medicine. It will help to assess candidates from across the continent in a series of practical analysis tests overseen by senior staff.

Its involvement in the diploma is expected to boost its reputation as a centre of excellence for intensive care and strengthen its chances of recruiting the best medical talent in the field.

Dr Raj Saha, director of critical care medicine at PAH, said: "Hosting the examination offers us the opportunity to promote both clinical excellence for our patients and high-quality education."

EDIC was established to encourage consistent standards of intensive care medicine throughout Europe. The first diploma test at PAH is due to take place this summer.

Specsavers staff support guide dog fundraiser

STAFF at the Harlow branch of a national opticians chain helped to raise £150 for Guide Dogs UK after hosting a fundraising day at their town centre shop. Customers visiting the Specsavers store in East Gate last Wednesday were greeted by guide dogs and their owners and were invited to make a donation to the charity in exchange for minor repairs and adjustments to their eyewear. The store also donated

£1 from every eye test fee taken on the day, with proceeds from the event going towards the chain's nationwide pledge to raise the £250,000 needed to pay for the breeding and training costs of 25 guide dog pups. Harlow store director Mike Langley said: "We're delighted to play host to Guide Dogs. The work they do for the blind and partially-sighted is absolutely life changing and we're proud to be helping them."

I'd love an Elvis tribute.

Political rivals at odds over young jobless

ROBERT HALFON

SUZY STRIDE

By CHRIS MOSS, News Editor
chris.moss@hertsessexnews.co.uk

A WAR of words has broken out between Harlow MP Robert Halfon and his Labour opponent Suzy Stride after the pair clashed over the town's youth unemployment figures.

The pair traded verbal blows after the Office For National Statistics published figures for 2011 showing the number of long-term Jobseeker's Allowance claimants aged 16-24 had more than tripled (up to 175 from 50) over the course of last year.

They also highlight a slight drop (715 to 695) in the overall number of young JSA claimants from November to December – hailed by Mr Halfon as a step in the right direction but dismissed by Ms Stride as a possible reflection of the increasing number of temporary jobs over the Christmas period.

Ms Stride, who helps out-of-work youngsters find employment as part of her job with East London charity City Gateway, accused Mr Halfon of "astounding complacency" over what she described as an alarming rise in long-term claimants.

"These figures will only confirm what families in Harlow already know, that we are facing an unemployment emergency," she told the Star. "Six people are now chasing every job in Harlow and long-term youth unemployment is up a staggering 250 per cent since the start of the year.

"As every month passes it is getting clear-

Government 'failing' town's young jobless

FLASHBACK: Star, December 29

er and clearer the Government's welfare-to-work programmes are simply failing the young people here in Harlow.

"Complacent and out-of-touch ministers need to wake up to the jobs crisis they're responsible for and take urgent action now."

But Mr Halfon said the overall drop in the number of claimants suggested the Government's drive to increase the number of apprenticeships nationwide was having a positive impact.

"These figures are to be welcomed and I hope to see a further fall in the months ahead," he said. "In 2012 my number one priority is going to be the economy and bringing jobs back to Harlow, especially for our young people.

"Thanks to a Conservative-led government, in Harlow alone the number of apprentices has rocketed by 73 per cent from 450 in 2009-10 to a figure of 780 for 2010-11.

"This is fantastic news and clearly shows that businesses not just locally but across the country are seeing the benefits there are in having apprentices in their workplaces."

New rail firm promises high standards

TRAIN operator National Express East Anglia will bow out of the Star patch on an all-time low, according to a damning passenger survey.

Independent watchdog Passenger Focus said the firm, which is surrendering the franchise to Dutch transport giant Abellio on Saturday, had the lowest number of contented customers in Britain last year.

In its annual autumn report for 2011 – the results of which were released last week – NXEA ranked bottom of the league for overall satisfaction at 77 per cent.

By contrast, highest performer Grand Central – an Arriva-owned operator in north-east England – boasted a satisfaction rate of 95 per cent.

The overall national average for regional operators was 86 per cent.

According to the Passenger Focus report, 47 per cent of passengers felt NXEA's fares were poor value for money – a higher result than the vast majority of rival operators who scored 30 per cent or below. Just 10 per cent felt the same way about Grand Central.

But Abellio, which will run the service under the banner Abellio Greater Anglia, has vowed things will get better.

Among the improvements promised by Abellio are station refurbishments, new mobile e-ticketing systems and more staff on platforms.

Managing director Ruud Haket said: "The Greater Anglia team is strengthened by these new appointments and looks forward to running the region's railway operations to the high standards expected by passengers and staff."

Calendar girls make a date to present cheque to school

KEEN ramblers who shed their clothing for a racy charity calendar have nothing to be embarrassed about after raising more than £5,800 from their cheeky venture.

The 14 women from the Harlow Walking Group who took part in the tasteful Calendar Girls-style project in aid of Harlow Fields School and College were amazed after selling all 1,000 copies that were printed.

The group, whose calendars have attracted buyers from as far afield as Australia, then received extra donations towards their fundraiser including an anonymous £1,000 contribution to cover printing costs.

"The response has been overwhelming and we are all really proud of ourselves for raising such a huge amount," said organiser Sheila Cleary.

"We have received a bit of stick over it but mostly the comments have been positive and people have understood that we did this for a good cause, not because we enjoy getting our kit off!" A cheque for the final amount was presented to Harlow Field School governors on Monday. Sheila added: "Harlow Fields is a fantastic school and we are all thrilled to be able to do our bit to help the children here."

SECRET MESSAGE Raj qa lae ofx o glhobbafoeh aeg ga yebpr? "Guo, Huk?"

Lighting up the sky

PEOPLE living in the north of Britain have been enjoying a free light show in the sky. You may have seen television reports of the Northern Lights - or to give them their real name the Aurora Borealis - which have turned the night sky into a colourful display. The Northern Lights have been caused by a solar storm during which high-energy particles were released after a solar flare erupted from the Sun.

These particles, which are not dangerous, have been colliding with the Earth's magnetic field at the North and South poles - and the result is a natural light show.

Photographer Reed Ingram Weir, who took a series of photographs of the Northern Lights in Northumberland, said the display was "unreal." "It is very difficult to predict when the lights are going to be visible," he said. "We saw the lights in the far distance, whereas in Norway or Iceland they would be above your head.

"People were dancing around under the lights. They were visible from about 6pm but they peaked at around 10.30pm before they died out at midnight."

Although the particles are nothing to be afraid of, a solar storm can cause communication problems for aircraft travelling near the poles and astronauts on the International Space Station.

THE SMALL COPPER, Churchfield, Harlow - Dave Dawson

By CHRIS MOSS

EVER wondered where The Rolling Stones first met, what prompted Cliff Richard to change his name or why blues legend 'Champion' Jack Dupree moved to a sleepy Yorkshire village?

Or perhaps you've always wanted to take a stroll across Paul Simon's Bridge Over Troubled Water or pay your respects at the final resting place of Eleanor Rigby but don't know where to find either.

Whatever that gap in your musical knowledge may be, chances are you'll find the answer in a fascinating new book compiled by Harlow author and music aficionado David Roberts.

Rock Atlas has been a five-year labour of love for the former managing editor of the Guinness Book Of Hit Singles. In it he tells the stories behind almost 700 rock 'n' roll landmarks and chronicles Britain and Ireland's pivotal roles in the development of popular music over the past 60 years.

"I heard so many amazing stories and picked up so much information during my time editing the Guinness books," said David, who lives at Church Langley. "I thought that unless someone sat down and documented these nuggets of musical history we might lose them forever."

"After interviewing roadies, fans and even the odd rock star as well as visiting the small venues that gave birth to legends and trying to find out more about the locations featured on some of my favourite album covers, I soon realised the scale of the task I had taken on."

ON LOCATION: David Roberts with a copy of his book, Rock Atlas

"There was no way I could do it all myself, so before long I had a whole army of music-lovers across Britain and Ireland sending me photos and details of their local landmarks. It's amazing how passionate people are about music."

Harlow is featured twice in the book, with one entry on the legendary concerts held at the Bandstand in Harlow Town Park and the other focusing on the striking Our Lady Of Fatima Church in Howard Way, which featured on the front cover of Chemical Brothers album Brothers Gonna Work It Out.

"There are so many of these fascinating stories we could have probably gone on forever," David added. "It was only when my publisher turned round to me and said we should probably get the book out that we stopped. I'm already working on a follow-up!"

● Rock Atlas, published by Clarksdale, is available now online at www.amazon.co.uk and from all good booksellers, priced £19.99.

What's on, Watson?

THE Playhouse will be the setting for Sherlock Holmes' greatest adventure next week as award-winning theatre group Global Productions return to the theatre on the trail of a fearsome hound. The company's new adaptation of The Hound Of The Baskervilles opens next Friday (February 10) and promises to have audiences on the edge of their seats.

Set on the wilds of Dartmoor, the spine-tingling tale follows Holmes and loyal sidekick Dr Watson as they investigate the legend of a ghostly, feral hound said to have a thirst for human blood.

Global director Michael Phillips said the group were hopeful of capitalising on the renewed interest in Arthur Conan Doyle's fictional detective following the huge success of the recent BBC television series and Guy Ritchie's

Hollywood blockbusters. "The fact that both the films and the TV series have gone down very well with audiences shows there's still a real appetite for the Sherlock Holmes stories," he said. "Hopefully we can repeat that success with our new production. "It's got all the ingredients for a thrilling drama and judging by the way the rehearsals have gone I'm confident we can put on a great piece of theatre."

The play opens on Friday, February 10 and runs until Sunday, February 12. Performances start at 7.30pm on Friday and Saturday and 2.30pm on Sunday. Tickets cost £15.50 (£13.50 concessions / £10.50 groups of 10 or more) and can be purchased in advance by calling the box office on (01279) 431945 or online at www.playhouseharlow.com.

Exploring a dark side of 'superhero' powers

WE HAVE THE POWER: Alex Russell, Michael B. Jordan and Dane DeHaan in CHRONICLE

CHRONICLE certificate 12A, 1h23m

AS weakling Peter Parker discovered to his cost before his transformation into web-spinning superhero Spider-Man, with great power comes great responsibility. Three high school students learn a similarly harsh lesson in Josh Trank's low-budget sci-fi thriller which imagines the catastrophic consequences for the friends when they are suddenly gifted incredible mental and physical skills.

Andrew Detmer (Dane DeHaan) is powerless to help his bedridden mother Karen (Bo Petersen) fight the terminal illness that has stripped away her dignity. He suffers in silence, weathering the beatings from his alcoholic father Richard (Michael Kelly) and persistent bullying at school.

The film opens through the lens of an old-fashioned video camera Andrew has just purchased to record each waking minute in the hope this might protect him from his old man's fists.

"I'm filming everything from here on in," he shouts to his father through his locked bedroom door, establishing the film's stylistic conceit of recounting events from the perspective of the different devices that track the characters' movements.

Andrew's cousin and only friend Matt (Alex Russell) wearily tolerates the omnipresent camera but is quick to shoo away Andrew when he is trying to impress old flame Casey (Ashley Hinshaw), who has a penchant for video blogging.

Late one night, Andrew, Matt and high school golden boy Steve (Michael B. Jordan) discover a strange artefact in a crater. Soon after they are blessed with powers of flight, telekinesis and invulnerability.

At first they employ the new-found abilities for laddish amusement – building a Lego tower using mind control or effortlessly walking a tightrope at a school talent show. However, once Andrew's deep-seated rage takes control of his powers, it's only a matter of time before the darkness completely envelops him.

Chronicle is a sprightly tale of corruption and redemption that curries sympathy for Andrew despite his heinous crimes in the latter stages of the film.

Performances from the largely unknown cast are uniformly strong, led by DeHaan as the dutiful son who is sick and tired of being used as a punch bag.

Max Landis's script wrong-foots us on several occasions, not least when a pivotal character is despatched early into proceedings.

Visual effects are largely polished although some do not meld seamlessly with the live action.

Alternating between different cameras owned by the characters occasionally feels contrived but the conceit works well for the final showdown when director Trank cuts quickly between Andrew's video camera, mobile phones, CCTV and police helicopter surveillance.

MAN ON A LEDGE certificate 12A, 1h42m

Ex-cop Nick Cassidy (Sam Worthington) is sentenced to time behind bars for stealing a priceless diamond belonging to billionaire David Englander (Ed Harris).

His pleas of innocence fall on deaf ears so when Nick is granted temporary leave to attend his father's funeral he escapes from police custody and heads for the Roosevelt Hotel, where he enjoys a final meal before scrawling a suicide note and stepping out on to the window ledge.

Police negotiator Lydia Anderson (Elizabeth Banks) rushes to the scene and tries to talk Nick back into the hotel room. Meanwhile, in a building opposite, Nick's younger brother Joey (Jamie Bell) and his girlfriend Joey (Genesis Rodriguez) orchestrate the daring heist of Englander's private vault.

Ad man Jack Sadelstein (Adam Sandler) lives with wife Erin (Katie Holmes), their daughter Sofia (Elodie Tougne) and adopted son Gary (Rohan Chand). Every Thanksgiving, Jack braces himself for the arrival of twin sister Jill (Sandler again), who has a complete lack of social graces. He can't wait to be rid of her until, that is, his sibling becomes useful.

Jack hopes to persuade Al Pacino to star in a commercial for a new type of coffee from a well-known chain of doughnut shops. Pacino develops a crush on Jill, so Jack surmises that he can use her. Unfortunately for Jack, Jill has deep feelings for the Sadelsteins' Mexican gardener, Felipe (Eugenio Derbez).

JOURNEY 2: MYSTERIOUS ISLAND 3D certificate PG, 1h34m

Sean Anderson (Josh Hutcherson) has sprouted into a truculent 17-year-old with scant respect for authority. Following a brush with the law, Sean hides away in his room where he hopes to break a coded distress signal emanating from the South Pacific.

His stepfather, Navy vet Hank (Dwayne Johnson) breaks the cipher which confirms the existence of the mysterious island from Jules Verne's 1874 book. Hank accompanies Sean to New Guinea where they charter a helicopter belonging to wise-cracking pilot Gabato (Luis Guzman) and his sassy daughter, Kailani (Vanessa Hudgens).

The motley crew fly into the eye of a hurricane and are spewed on to sandy shores where Sean's gung-ho grandfather Alexander (Michael Caine) guides the newcomers through jungles teeming with danger, while an imminent volcanic eruption threatens to plunge the landmass into the churning waters.

War Horse Farmer Ted Narracott (Peter Mullan) pays over the odds for a foal called Joey when he is supposed to be buying a plough horse. Long-suffering wife Rose (Emily Watson) despairs, wondering how they will pay the rent while son Albert (Jeremy Irvine) promises to train the animal to work the fields. When Europe goes to war, Ted sells Joey to Captain Nicholls (Tom Hiddleston), who promises to take good care of the beast. Albert subsequently learns of tragedy on the battlefield and enlists in the army with best friend Andrew (Matt Milne) to track down Joey and return the horse to the farm. Meanwhile, behind enemy lines, Joey is captured by the Germans and embarks on a momentous journey in the company of a young soldier called Gunther (David Kross), a French girl (Celine Buckens) and her grandfather (Niels Arestrup).

The Descendants Matthew King (George Clooney) stares forlornly at his wife Liz (Patricia Hastie) as she lies in a vegetative state after a water-skiing accident. Doctors tell him there is no hope of recovery and everyone should say their farewells. With a heavy heart, Matthew bravely gathers together his 10-year-old daughter Scottie (Amara Miller) and his rebellious 17-year-old daughter Alex (Shailene Woodley). The older child stopped talking to her mother shortly before the accident and it transpires that Alex discovered Liz was having an affair with real estate agent Brian Speer (Matthew Lillard).

Matthew is devastated but eventually decides to take a two-day vacation to find Brian and inform his rival of Liz's injury.

A Monster In Paris The year is 1910 and Paris has been ravaged by floods. Cinema projectionist Emile (voiced by Jay Harrington) agrees to help truck driver Raoul (Adam Goldberg) make a delivery to a gargantuan greenhouse owned by a scientist. Raoul forces his way inside and begins fooling around with test tubes of strange liquid. There is a massive explosion and the resulting cloud of gases causes a flea to mutate to hulking proportions. The insect bounds across the city until it finds an unlikely ally and musical companion in cabaret chanteuse Lucille (Vanessa Paradis) nightclub.

more, or at least have more say in decision making. A talent you have can find a new outlet. Call for your love scope...

Scorpio Oct 24-Nov 22
You may find your thoughts circulate
around your mind more,
but it is going to be important not to bottle up any concerns. This is especially so around your love life, where the Venus Mars opposition suggests you can be highly attracted to someone, but not necessarily like them.
A trusted friend can help.
Call for your love scope in full...

Gemini May 22-Jun 21
Travel plans can be made or if you are interested in taking up a distance learning course, here too you can be active. Exploring in general is a bigger pull for you. At work, you need to be sure that if you are going the extra yard it is truly appreciated, and you are not just being charmed into being compliant. Call now for more news and advice...

Sagittarius Nov 23-Dec 21
If you are really pushing for success in your life, someone close to you may be finding it hard going. Even relationships at work can suffer if people are alienated by soaring ambition. At least the move of Mercury this week will enable you to increase the dialogue.
Soak up what you are told, and what you sense.
Call for more astral advice...

Cancer Jun 22-Jul 23
You are looking for parity in your closet
tie. This needn't be an exact sharing of the household bills or duties, but you want to feel that your commitment is being matched or your partner
can seek this from you.
There could be some feisty discussions about this - especially if one of you is being rather evasive. Call for your love scope in full...

Capricorn Dec 22-Jan 20
You could have a heated discussion
this week. If you're not used to skirmishes of this kind, this can leave you unsettled. What may be at the root of this is if you feel you give more to the tie than them. But equally this could be true of any relationship you're in.
Around money, equity is particularly important.
Call me for your in-depth
forecast...

Leo Jul 24-Aug 23
Someone can be emanating a very spicy vibe, but as much as this may draw you towards them, being able to relate easily becomes more attractive now. If there have been some sharp words of late in an existing union, it's time to stop and listen to one another. If you do, you might be surprised by what you learn. Call me for more...

Aquarius Jan 21-Feb 19
Mercury joins your sign, helping you to bring extra dynamism to bear. If any project has been on the backburner, now you can get on the front foot. Your originality continues to be your greatest quality, so have the confidence to use it.
Someone alluring can enter your orbit, but they may be more materialistic than you. Call me for your love scope...

Virgo Aug 24-Sept 23
With Mars in your sign going face to face with Venus, you need to be sure around any relationship moves, so try not to be too impetuous. At work, an unexpected
opportunity can come up, but you will need to be on your toes to react, because it could go past in the blink of an eye. A cash hunch can pay off too. Call for your financial scope in full...

Pisces Feb 20-Mar 20
Someone can become more important, but not the person you thought it would be. In fact, there can be quite a few surprises - especially as far as relationships are concerned. One tie can be off, then on, then off again, but all this is giving you valuable experience of what's truly important Pisces.

The hallway has attractive laminate flooring, doors leading to all rooms and a staircase to the first floor.

There is a bright and spacious lounge with doors opening into the conservatory. This in turn overlooks the back garden and is a cosy room with wood flooring and underfloor electric heating.

The kitchen is fitted with a range of wall and base units with a rolled edge work surface incorporating stainless steel sink and drainer unit with mixer taps. There is also a built-in four-ring hob with cooker hood as well as a built-in eye level double oven. There are several integrated appliances including a fridge freezer, washing machine and dishwasher, and a small breakfast bar area.

The first floor landing provides access to the loft and all three bedrooms. Bedroom one faces the front of the property with an alcove area for wardrobes. Bedroom two has a built-in wardrobe and a window overlooking the rear garden while bedroom three looks out onto the front of the house and has a built-in storage cupboard.

The refitted shower room features a double cubicle and power shower, low-level WC, pedestal wash hand basin and chrome towel rail.

The keys to selling any property are price, location and exposure. You can't change the location of your property, and the market determines the price. However, your agent can make significant inroads into how powerfully your property is exposed to the market.

One of the most effective methods is the open house. This is where the property is advertised as being open for anyone who wishes to view it at a certain time, usually during a weekend. Very common abroad, the open house is rapidly gaining popularity in the UK, and for good reason.

Firstly, one of the best sources of qualified buyers is via the neighbours. Everybody knows someone who is selling and people tend to buy in an area which is close to their existing network of friends and acquaintances. This is known as socio-demographic mirroring.

When a property goes on show, it is marketed intensely in the neighbourhood so that every neighbour is aware that the property is for sale. If they know anyone who is buying, they are highly likely to invite them round to see the property, or at least look at it on their behalf.

From the seller's perspective, having an open house can concentrate the viewings around a fixed time. Go for a walk and leave it all to the agent if you want to reduce some of the stress of selling!

Open house days tend to be very relaxed, and they create an environment where buyers do not feel in any way under pressure, but can take their time to consider a property's merits. Because of this, we find that more people register their interest during an open house than they would through the usual advertising channels.

As a celebration of a property, an open house promotes intense buyer activity which often prompts a sale, as everybody wants something that everybody else wants!

Luxury in epic proportions

By Matt Kimberley

THE word 'epic' is probably over-used these days. Most of the time the context in which it's used lacks the gravitas that it deserves.

Step into the world of the CLS63 AMG, though, and you remember what the word is there for.

For a start it's just about five metres long and, fitted with AMG wheels and body styling, it's a beast. Yes, the saloon boot is huge and, yes, it's a practical and safe Mercedes, but there are more than a few exterior touches that really get the juices flowing.

The AMG division has always prided itself on making its cars sound incredible. The 6.2-litre naturally-aspirated V8 engine, one of the best-sounding engines ever made and still available in the C63 AMG and SLS AMG, has been replaced by a 5.5-litre twin-turbocharged unit.

It's technically for the sake of emissions and fuel economy, both of which have been improved a lot by the switch, but the bottom line when you tick the option box marked AMG Performance Package is that power stands at 550bhp – enough to give the CLS monumental shove.

The noise is equally amazing. Inside the car the occupants hear a muted V8 rumble. But anyone outside it – especially

FACT file

Mercedes-Benz CLS63 AMG

£81,145 on the road

Engine: 5.5-litre twin-turbocharged V8 producing 518bhp
Transmission: 7-speed Speedshift automatic driving rear wheels
Performance: Top speed 155mph (limited), 0-62mph in 4.4s
Economy: 28.5mpg
CO₂ Rating: 231g/km

behind it – is treated to a thunderously loud, effortlessly deep and gloriously exciting cacophony from the exhausts, punctuated by pops and crackles when the driver lifts off the throttle.

The test model had been kitted out with an astonishing amount of options, some of which make more sense than others. The AMG Performance package is great but expensive at around £6,500, while the paint from the special 'designo' catalogue costs £4,500. It's lovely, but not that different from standard metallic to untrained eyes.

In fact this car, which costs over £80,000 to begin with, had a total of £26,000 worth of extras, taking the final asking price comfortably into six figures. It's really got to justify those kinds of numbers, so let's start with performance.

If you have a disused airfield handy the performance is, well, epic. Even if the Tarmac is dry, in temperatures around freezing the rear wheels will spin if you push the throttle hard.

Keep it pinned and you'll get violent and relentless acceleration, right up to a point at Autobahn-only speeds where your fear reflexes overtake your willpower, or you hit the 155mph speed limiter.

Inside the cabin it's good news for whoever wrote the cheque, because the build quality and standard of materials is outstanding. Almost infinitely adjustable heated and cooled leather seats are an optional extra well worth going for. As far as luxurious places to sit go, the CLS63 with its leather-trimmed dashboard and suede-covered pillars is up there with the finest.

But amidst all this desperately desirable luxury, it's still a practical Mercedes. The COMAND multi-media system is among the easiest and most enjoyable to use, even if the menu tabs do look a little dated. The ride is generally good, given the size of the wheels. It doesn't like sharp bumps like sunken manhole covers, but at high speed its not inconsiderable weight is controlled really very well. Thankfully the brakes are also top performers.

Leg room for rear passengers is as abundant as they could wish for this side of a long-wheelbase S-Class limousine. It's a thoroughly comfortable environment to relax in while the lucky driver enjoys him or herself. The boot will swallow four people's luggage greedily, whether it's golf clubs or suitcases.

With such a well-equipped car packed with options as this one is, any shortfalls are obvious. The standard stereo unit is good but it somehow lacks the punch to match the visual and accelerative impacts the car makes. Better to upgrade to the Harman Kardon system, which with a few tweaks among the settings offers top-drawer sound quality.

Everything about the CLS63 AMG is epic. From the way its huge presence and (optional) real carbon-fibre body detailing grab attention to the noise it makes, the gadgets it boasts and the sense of absolute quality it purveys, there are few more satisfying cars to own. No car of this size has any right to be this much fun while also being classy, prestigious and dignified.

In summary, it's like a meal at Gordon Ramsey's restaurant at Claridges – very pricey with tear-jerkingly expensive add-ons. But after all is said and done and you're digesting the experience, you could never say it was poor value.

 End of the road for your vehicle?

Responsible drivers scrap their vehicles at an Authorised Treatment Facility (ATF). Because only an ATF can legally scrap a vehicle. That means any pollutants will be made safe before it's recycled in an environmentally friendly way.

What's more, for certain types of vehicle you'll get a DVLA approved Certificate of Destruction (CoD). A CoD proves that the ATF has told DVLA your vehicle has been scrapped and so is no longer your responsibility. www.direct.gov.uk/motoring

Primary Teacher - Maternity Cover

Required to start: Summer term 2012

This is a unique opportunity to teach core subjects at key stage 3 to students ranging from P level to level 4. The successful applicant will be experienced at differentiating activities to suit this ability range for a small group of pupils (maximum class size of 18). A good knowledge of the KS1 and KS2 curriculum is essential. The Academy has regular cross-curricular project days which provide extra teaching opportunities covering a range of subjects, environments and age groups. The role will include a tutor group responsibility.

Passmore Academy is a success story; we have been consistently in the top 100 improved schools and we achieve this by successfully innovating and leading from the edge with vertical tutor groups, a flexible curriculum and a vibrant house system all creating a buzz and this provides an exciting opportunity for all staff to develop a wide range of skills and experiences. No doubt the recent TV series will show that we are a child centric school.

We are now happily in our £23 million new building that provides an environment that our students deserve. We are designated as a National Support school and this means that we are supporting other schools to raise standards too.

We were also deemed a High Performing Specialist School and are the named lead school for A, G and T in the area. We are proud of what we have achieved and continue to strive to become even better.

If you think you are up to the challenge of working in a school that works and plays together, do not hesitate to apply to join the team.

Applications will be accepted by letter, completion of Essex County Council Application Form and a detailed CV to the Principal citing two references.

Hammer time for Ladies

Hammersmith & Fulham Ladies 32, Harlow Ladies 10

RFU Women's National Challenge South East North 1

HARLOW Ladies put up a brave fight before they lost at Hammersmith & Fulham on Sunday.

The Rams defended resolutely for the first 15 minutes before the West London side broke through to score a try which was converted.

Hammersmith's rucking was too good for Harlow and Hammersmith scored their second try on the half-hour mark.

This was unconverted and Harlow struck back when neat play from full-back Sarah Stimpson and lock Tracey Lee set up wing Shelley Morgan for her first ever try.

Harlow trailed 12-5 at the break and they were right back in contention early in the second half.

Stimpson sprinted from her own 22 to score a try eight minutes into the second half.

However, the game slipped away from the Rams through a couple of substitutions from injuries and positional changes.

Hammersmith capitalised to score three unconverted tries and late pressure from Harlow could not get them a third try.

In their previous league game, Harlow had beaten Chesham 57-0.

Julie Gilbert (3), Davina McLellan, Emma O'Donnell, Dani McKenna, Lee, Leah Dixon and Kelly Cotterill scored the tries.

Stimpson kicked six conversions.

Essex Women's Hockey League, premier division

THE title hopes of Harlow received a blow as they drew at lowly Brentwood II.

Harlow, missing inspirational captain and top scorer Carolyn Welsford, conceded a first-half goal from a short corner before the visitors equalised early in the second half.

Georgina Esterhuysen, who had earlier sprained an ankle, scored Harlow's goal from open play.

The visitors then had at least one shout for a penalty flick turned down before they were forced to settle for a point.

Harlow are two points behind leaders East London but the latter have played a game less.

Raceway offers Grand Prix chance

RYE House Kart Raceway will be giving karters the chance to take part in Grand Prix style championships without having their own equipment.

The championships are specifically aimed at drivers that don't have the preparation time available to compete in race meetings as owner drivers, but still want to get all the extra benefits that becoming a club racer offers.

Separate championships will be created to cater for all age groups.

For eight to 11 and 12 to 15-year-olds the format will be based around an MSA style meeting with three heats, points from which will give them their grid positions for a final.

After each race the top three drivers will receive trophies and all entrants will get their own lap time certificate.

For adults the GP1 race will feature a 15-minute qualifying session, followed by a race through to the end of the hour.

Again there will be trophies and certificates.

Each driver will get free membership to the Rye House Drivers Club.

The champs will start in March and run for nine rounds.

For details of prices and further information call the Raceway on (01992) 460895.

POLE POSITION: Drivers who don't own their own karts will now be able to take part in a special championship at Rye House (S)

No Rye racing during Olympics

THERE will be no speedway meetings at Rye House during the London 2012 Olympic Games because promoter Len Silver fears there will be too much disruption to travel and parking at the Hoddesdon stadium.

The opening ceremony for the Olympics is on July 27, and the global sporting showcase runs until August 12.

Silver said: "I do not intend to run speedway during the Olympic fortnight."

"It means that we miss the weekends of July 28, August 4 and August 11."

"As we are on the direct train route to Stratford we believe that our car park will be taken up by hosts of Olympic spectators and we cannot risk not being able to park our own fans comfortably.

"There is also the strong possibility of some traffic congestion from the East End of London into Herts and Essex."

"It also means that our fans will be able to watch the major events of the Games without missing what I am predicting will be the most exciting speedway to be seen at Hoddesdon for many years - in particular I see our two teenagers Tyson Nelson and Jason Garrity thrilling the crowds with their fearless riding."

"Garrity will form a reserve pairing with Jason Bunyan who is another tough and hard opponent."

"These two will give a bottom end strength that will win many matches for the Rockets."

"We resume racing with an unusual Monday meeting on August 13, starting at 7.30pm. This is so that we don't get behind in our fixtures."

Silver added: "During the Olympics the Rockets will do two Northern tours, July 28 at Workington and at Glasgow the following day."

"Then on August 3, 4 and 5 we will be at Edinburgh, Berwick and Newcastle and have a fixture on August 11 at Leicester."

The adjacent Rye House Kart Raceway will be open for business as usual throughout the Olympics, with a spokesperson saying they hoped that it would generate extra interest in their facility.

Rockets freeze admission prices for 2012

RYE House Rockets promoter Len Silver has given his team's supporters some New Year cheer by freezing admission prices for the 2012 season.

Rockets' normal fixtures will see no pricing change from 2011, with adults remaining at £16, seniors £14, children (12-16) £5 and kids under-12 free. The match programme will be £2.

The Raiders' standard National League fixtures, meanwhile, will see a reduction in price from last season, with adults at £10, children (12-16) remaining at £5 and under-12s free.

Double header fixtures at Hoddesdon (Premier League/National League) will be priced as per Premier League level matches, with no additional admission charge for the Raiders races.

The only increase will be for the match programme (to £3) being implemented to help offset the additional costs of staging these meetings.

The Rockets recently went on their annual ski holiday that will jointly serve as a team building exercise, as they count down toward the opening night of their 2012 home programme against Ipswich in the Anglia Cup on March 17 (7pm).

Chris Neath will be leading a side that combines familiarity with two exciting new arrivals. Five of last year's team will be returning to Hoddesdon, with Neath joined by Jordan Frampton, Ritchie Hawkins, Harlow's Luke Bowen and fast-emerging Aussie teenager Tyson Nelson.

The new faces in town come in the form of six-time New Zealand champ Jason Bunyan, who arrives on an average of just 4.74 after an injury-shortened 2011, and explosive British under-19 and National League Riders champion Jason Garrity.

Win at South England Champs? Can do!

>>cross country

ATHLETE Canaan Soloman recorded an excellent victory in the U-13 boys 3km race in the South of England Cross Country Championships.

Saturday's event at Stannar Park in Brighton, East Sussex saw the 13-year-old Mark Hall School student make his decisive break with 800m to go.

Canaan went on to win in 10 minutes, 10 seconds. He was 10 seconds clear of the next runner.

Meanwhile, Burnt Mill School pupil Amelia Barrett (15) achieved an excellent 10th spot from more than 200 starters in the U-15 girls 4km race.

In the U-13 girls 3km race, Rosie Poole (12), a Stewards School student, claimed 27th spot from 250 starters in 11:51.

Thirteen-year-old Mark Hall pupil Jodi Ratcliff ran really well to come 50th in 12:09.

After suffering stomach cramps during the boys' U-15 4.5km race, Burnt Mill pupil Perry Rowan (15) still finished in 39th spot (16:09).

Harlow Athletic Club member Amie White came first in a girls U-11 2km race at Benfleet on Saturday.

She was closely followed by club colleagues Claudia Andrews (4th), Katie Woodstock (5th), Millie Hall (6th) and Ana Cuning (7th).

Jade Quinn-Berry (Harlow) was 17th.

Baseball players pitch in

YOUNGSTERS keen on giving baseball a go can take part in a try out event run by Harlow Baseball Club on March 4.

The event at the Leisurezone sports centre is part of the club's attempt to relaunch the Harlow Greensox baseball team.

An open day had previously been held in January which attracted only 12 youngsters.

The club is based at Northbrooks Recreational Ground, which is also used as a base for Southern National matches.

Harlow Baseball Club secretary Paul Wadley said: "We have also had funding of £12,000 from Barclays 'Spaces for Sport' scheme and this will help with getting people qualified as coaches."

He added: "We hope to help set up an Essex League and for youngsters to then move across into the Southern Nationals' youth team."

At the last open day, club founder Albert Hobdell was presented with an engraved glass trophy by Harlow MP Robert Halfon, as the former was made an honorary president of Harlow Baseball Club.

Wadley said: "This was in recognition for originally starting the baseball initiative in Harlow under Greensox Baseball Club and having built a baseball diamond [pitch] at Northbrooks Recreational Ground."

Late try gives rivals key win

A LATE converted try from hosts Norwich consigned second-placed Harlow to defeat at North Walsham Road in a key match against their closest rivals for the second promotion spot.

The Rams were leading 10-8 with three minutes of normal time left on Saturday before third-placed Norwich conjured a try after Harlow's defence was stretched.

Although Harlow grabbed a bonus point for losing by seven points or less, the Norfolk side closed the gap on them.

Norwich 15, Harlow 10

Norwich now trail Harlow by just four points.

Rams senior coach Lee Harron said: "It was annoying as we had led for so much of the game. Although there was a good last-ditch tackle, we committed too many players at the previous breakdown."

Harlow went ahead in the seventh minute when a well-worked move saw Wernez Kotze dash over for a try.

Danny Smith kicked the conversion.

The Norfolk side scored a 27th-minute penalty and then an unconverted try on the half-hour mark after they created an overlap.

Shortly before the break Rams flanker Mark Bowering was sin-binned for a loose play offence.

Harron said: "This was after a series of offences. We did not adapt well to the referee and did not listen to what he was saying [in the loose phases]."

Norwich led 8-7 at the break and although Harlow regained the lead on 46 minutes through a Smith penalty, Harron was not satisfied.

He said: "We were camped down on their line at the start of the second half, but did not take our [try scoring] chances."

The Harlow scrum was dominant but the hosts were controlling the line-outs and the loose play.

Norwich had much possession and this produced the crucial 77th-minute converted try.

HARLOW: Mackie, Vanbeck, L Bowering, Heapy, Kotze (Milne 70), Smith, Powell, Roze, Mallia, Cunningham (Stonehouse 45), Twinner, Palmer, Roberts, M. Bowering (Drake 75), Claridge.

Herts Basketball League, division one

PLAYER coach Shab Niaz has faith in his Harlow Hawks side to bounce back from their Herts County premier home mauling at the hands of Cambridge Cats.

Shab Niaz was irritated by the mistakes in Friday's clash but hopes his team can do well in their next two clashes.

He said: "We are looking to reach our first final for two seasons as we face Aylesbury Dux in the Herts Plate semi-final this Friday (tomorrow) and then Bedford Bulls in the National Founders Cup, next Saturday (February 11).

"The bonus is that both games are at home. They are massive games."

"We have to forget the Cambridge game and move on and put in the match-winning performances that I know this team are capable of when everyone is on the same wavelength."

Hawks started well in the game against Cambridge Cats, but with three minutes left in the quarter the visitors went on a 10-0 run to put some daylight between the two teams.

Harlow started the second quarter trailing 25-13.

The second quarter saw Shab Niaz enjoy an eight-point scoring spree at one stage.

There was also good work from Hawks' big men Luke

Atkinson and Stuart Burgess and the hosts only trailed 43-36 at the halfway stage.

The hard work of the second quarter was left in tatters at the start of the third quarter as four consecutive unforced turnovers by Hawks gave the Cats open lay-up points.

Despite a couple of three-pointers from Dave Spashett and a score by Luke Atkinson, Hawks found themselves down by 23 points with three minutes to go in the quarter.

Hawks improved and scores from Adam Ball and Simon Atkinson meant the Hawks trailed 74-57 going into the final quarter.

The hosts started this well, but the Cats then had a 15-0 run which settled any doubt about the outcome.

Coach Niaz added: "There were about three to four patches during this game when we committed turnover after turnover and they punished us by converting them to points."

Harlow keep apace with promotion rivals

Saffron Walden II 1, Harlow 1
East Men's Hockey League, division four south east

A GRITTY performance gave Harlow a draw at Saffron Walden II and kept them in touch with the three leading teams.

Saturday's point ensured that Harlow remained fourth and just four points behind third-placed Walden with a match in hand.

The Leventhorpe School-based team are seven points behind the top two.

Walden forced a few early short corners, but these were dealt with by the Harlow defence and goalkeeper Richard Norris.

The hosts went ahead on 15 minutes. Aided by a decoy run which pulled the Walden defence away from team-mate Craig Cholerton, James Smith advanced into the 'D' before he fired a powerful strike across the goalkeeper into the bottom corner of the goal.

Walden dominated possession but did not threaten Harlow's goal and the visitors led 1-0 at the break.

On 40 minutes, Harlow went down to 10 temporarily when Adam Otley was sin-binned for dissent.

Walden piled on the pressure and one attack saw a goal line clearance from Smith keep Harlow's noses in front until Otley rejoined the action.

The hosts equalised on 61 minutes. A short corner broke down, but a Walden player was first to react to the loose ball and his strike eventually found its way past Norris via a couple of Harlow deflections.

Walden continued to push forward looking to take all three points but it was the visitors who came closest to scoring shortly before the end.

Otley and Light combined before Cholerton dragged a shot agonisingly wide from a difficult angle.

HARLOW: Norris, Castle, N. Boughtwood, Krzyska, Gorrige, Symonds, Smith, Cholerton, Mace, Otley, A. Boughtwood. Subs: Light, Cox.

Club in top three with third win

HARLOW Volleyball Club men's team beat Brentwood Bombers 3-1 at home in Essex Division Two on Sunday.

The Passmores School-based team are third and have won their last three matches in the 8-team league.

Harlow Volleyball spokesman Iliia Kalanov said: "It was a competitive match with chances for both teams, but we played better in the very important moments and also I had one new player and one came back after injury, which was a big boost for the team. I want us to finish in the top three."

"In my opinion we are the best team in the group and need to get some experience this year to improve technically."

Home matches for Harlow follow against Chelmsford II and Tending II on February 5 and 12 respectively.

Harlow's women's team will play in four competitions this season. So far they have played in two. These involved four teams and saw Harlow finish third and fourth.

Junior school Gunner go for final glory

YEAR Six students from William Martin Junior School are celebrating after qualifying for a regional football tournament at Arsenal's youth training ground in Walthamstow.

The team from the Tawneys Road school will be playing in a tournament on February 9, which includes all of the best schools from the London area.

William Martin booked their spot after finishing as runner-up in the Essex county final in Tiptree. They had earlier won their group and eased through a semi-final.

They then lost 3-2 on penalties to Mulsham School in the final after it had finished 0-0.

William Martin represented Harlow after coming through two qualifying tournaments in the town, held at Mark Hall Sportcentre.

It was the second year running William Martin had triumphed in the Harlow Schools football tournament.

COUNTY CREAM: The successful William Martin team in their new kit (S)

Troy Mead, a coach of the William Martin team, said: "The boys should be very proud of themselves and what they have accomplished to be one of the best school football teams in Essex." To mark the success the Harlow-based Paringdon Sports Club, where Mead is co-owner, has bought a brand new kit for the team.

Kirby red card costs Town in clash with leaders

THE second-half dismissal of experienced defender Ryan Kirby ultimately ended any hope Harlow Town had of beating leaders Leiston.

The Hawks started the game poorly and conceded, but fought back and were unlucky not to be at least level at the break.

However, Kirby's second yellow card near the hour on Saturday left the hosts with a mountain to climb.

He will be banned for one match (at home to Redbridge on February 11).

Hawks winger Luke Marshall said: "The sending off was harsh. We were unlucky to be losing at the break, but we didn't come out for the second half. It's gone now though - back to winning ways next week."

The defeat left Harlow 12 points adrift of the leaders and surely the title has gone now.

Harlow gave a home debut to ex-Leyton Orient player John Martin in midfield, but he struggled and clearly needs game time.

Leiston went in front on 15 minutes. Kirby needlessly gave away a free-kick wide on the left and was rather harshly booked for the challenge on Leiston's hulk of a striker Nathan Stone.

Adding insult to injury, ex-Hawks striker Rhys Henry sent the set-piece towards the far post, but it deceived everyone and flew into the top right corner.

Michael Deane and Marshall forced excellent saves from Leiston keeper Louis Johnson, either side of Harlow's best chance on 32 minutes.

Sub James Peagram, on early for the injured Donny Barnard, poked a shot at the left post and Piers Wixon was unlucky not to stab in the rebound.

In the second half, Harlow lacked the energy they showed in the latter part of the first period.

Kirby's rash challenge on Leiston winger Patrick Brothers on 58 minutes earned the centre-half an early bath.

Taking full advantage of the extra man, Leiston made it 2-0 on 63 minutes when a headed through ball from Joe Jefford caught the hosts napping and Stone nipped through, surged into the box and slipped the ball under Hawks keeper Bert Bossu, who was badly positioned.

Henry scored his second and Leiston's third on 79 minutes. He was unmarked in the box and slotted a shot across goal and into the bottom right corner.

Leiston's Neil Calver saw red after a fracas with Hawks sub Ryan Maxwell on 89 minutes.

The result was sweet revenge for Leiston on their first ever visit to Harlow. They lost 4-1 at home to the Hawks in the corresponding fixture.

Key signing for promoted side as new season looms

ALL-rounder Usman Jan has joined Harlow Cricket Club from premier division rivals Loughton.

Jan (32) is an off spinner and middle-order batsman and he has effectively replaced all-rounder Haris Afridi who was released by Heskett.

Jan's arrival comes as Harlow captain Luke Heskett puts the finishing touches to his squad for the Shepherd Neame Essex League division one campaign, starting in May.

Heskett, 22, who skipped Harlow to the division two title last year, said: "I wanted a second spinner. It makes the side stronger and more balanced."

"He [Jan] has a lot of experience playing in this high standard of cricket."

He added: "Usman is a very good cricketer. He hits the ball a long way and bowls his spinners quite quickly."

The change is important as Heskett seeks a more balanced attack.

Batsman Dan Twitchett has joined Harlow from Shepherd Neame League division three neighbours Epping.

Twitchett approached Harlow and has been training with the Marigolds club at the Herts & Essex Indoor Cricket Centre in High Wych.

Heskett said: "He knew Andrew McGarry and wanted to join. He's a middle order batsman and looks a good player."

Ace all-rounder Khawaja will be with Harlow for a third season, but Heskett will miss the option of a left-arm seamer as Nicky Baxter will be out until July as he is abroad. Baxter did not play every game for the first team last summer.

He does give the attack variety with his different angle of delivery and his ability to keep the batsman on his toes. Baxter is also a hard-hitting batsman.

Heskett said: "He's in Canada until late July and we will miss him."

Heskett also wished Harlow Town Cricket Club good luck. The Elizabeth Way club has been elected to the Shepherd Neame Essex League.

He said: "I wish Harlow Town all the best in their new challenge in division three and hope that they do well."

Colt fire up first win

COLT Hatch won their first match of the Harlow & District Premier Darts League season, beating Crusader 6-2.

Leaders ServoLink marched on with their fifth 8-0 win. There were 180s from Damian and Ron Green in the triumph over Golden Swift.

Second-placed White Admiral drew 4-4 at Sawbridgeworth Brewery after being 3-1 down. Keith Arber (Admiral) had a 114 out-shot.

Tye Green Whites won 6-2 at Moot House in spite of Al Webber's first 180 of the season.

Tye Green Foxes beat Moot House Raiders 7-1 and Staple Tye Colts beat Bucaneers 6-2.

Kinney's Morocco trek

HARLOW Running Club member Andy Kinney completed Morocco's Marrakech half marathon in 1,096th position out of 3,400 finishers in a superb personal best time for the distance of 1 hour, 46 minutes and 17 secs.

Meanwhile, at the Waltham Abbey Park 5km run, Harlow's Paul Jeffrey-Read won in 19.36. It was his debut at the distance.

It's the title or bust

Hawks boss won't throw in towel - and could sign trio

HAWKS boss Danny Chapman has not given up on the Ryman division one north title - and is shaking up his squad and aims to bring in three new players.

Former Hawks midfielder Dave Cowley could return after being released by Ryman division one north rivals Grays Athletic.

Chapman, left, hopes to get Cowley's signature sorted before Harlow's league game at Heybridge Swifts this Saturday.

Barking striker Ben Jones and Takeley midfielder James Thomas are the two other players Chapman is trying to sign.

Chapman explained: "We have a lot of pace with the likes of Luke Marshall and James Peagram, but Dave Cowley gives you something different."

"He scored 12 goals for us last year and he's creative. He knows how we play and it's not like a new player coming in and having a few games to bed down. He still has to sort things out with Grays. He has still to be deregistered."

He added: "James Thomas is a skilful player and Ben Jones is a good player.

Ben might not be available for Heybridge as I think he might have a ban to complete."

Many people may think Harlow's title ambitions are over after their 3-0 home defeat against Leiston, following Ryan Kirby's red card.

Leiston have played a game more than Harlow and are 12 points ahead of the Essex side.

"There's a lot of football to be played. It's important to set your heights high. There are 15 games left and we want to win the league," said Chapman.

"If you just aim for the play-offs you could be complacent. It's important that we do not dwell on Leiston and move on."

He added: "Heybridge got a good result against Brentwood [a 4-0 home win], but we will concentrate on what we have to do."

Right-back Donny Barnard suffered a calf injury against Leiston and is unlikely to be fit for the Heybridge game.

"We do not know if it's a tear or a strain at this stage. I have Mark Taylor that can come in at right-back," said Chapman.

Kirby's suspension for the Redbridge game in nine days leaves Chapman short of centre-halves.

Defender Lamar Lemonius was set to play 30 minutes for the reserves last night (Wednesday) at Chelmsford City as he bids to come back from his knee injury.

Rams chief wants side to get a Holt on the leaders

LEE Harron has urged his Harlow team to raise their game when they host leaders Holt in a crucial RFU London division three north east clash this Saturday.

The Rams badly need to win as they seek to strengthen their precarious hold on second place after they lost at third-placed Norwich five days ago.

Rams senior coach Lee Harron said: "We must not give them a platform up front to work from."

"We need to work hard and we need to close them down in the centre of midfield, where they are very strong."

He added: "It's going to be very difficult. They are a very good side."

"We need to get something from the game, whether it be a win or at the very least bonus points [two points for scoring four tries or losing by less than seven points]."

Harron is not distracted by the 33-3 defeat the Rams suffered at Holt in October, but is keen that his side adapt to the referee.

They must not give penalties away, as they did in their 15-10 reverse against Norwich last weekend.

"A lot of the season has passed from when we played them [Holt] and we will be different sides," he said.

"They have to come to our place. I told [my players] after the Norwich game they did not adapt to the referee. They brought problems on themselves."

Forward Paul Eynon (at a wedding) and centre Mark Goggins (family commitments) missed the game at Norwich, but will be available for the Holt game.

Second row forward Darren Hawkins faces a race against time to recover in time from the head injury he sustained in the win against Newmarket 19 days ago.

Danny Smith will continue to deputise for fly-half Michael Dobson (on holiday), while number eight Kain Claridge (shoulder injury) came through unscathed in his comeback game at Norwich.

Coach backs Osagie to seal Olympic spot

NAT Fisher is confident Harlow's 800m runner Andrew Osagie can make the British athletics team for the London Olympics this summer.

The Harlow Athletics Club coach and highly-respected former England middle-distance runner coached the 23-year-old during an important part of Osagie's development at the Mark Hall Sportcentre-based club.

Osagie, of Northbrooks, has subsequently climbed the athletics ladder. He has gone on to represent England and Great Britain respectively at the Commonwealth Games in Delhi, India in 2010 and the IAAF World Championships at Daegu in South Korea in August 2011.

Osagie, who has been mentored by former Olympic double gold medalist Kelly Holmes, also came fourth in the 800m final (1:48.50) at the European Indoor Championships at Paris in February 2011.

Fisher, 75, of Elmwood, said: "I think he has got to be realistic. What he achieved last year, he has definitely got to improve on. He will get in the British team."

"Getting into the realms of the Olympics he knows he has a hard job. He has got a good coach in Craig Winrow [a former British Olympic 800m runner]."

NUMBER ONE: Great Britain Olympic hopeful Andrew Osagie. Inset, Nat Fisher

Osagie has undoubtedly talent, but Fisher has also recognised the commitment the former has. "I coached him from about 15 or 16 to when he went to university.

He's one of those dream people you like to get in athletics. They are a joy to coach and watch," he said. "Some runners, you know they are working hard to get anywhere. You look at Andrew Osagie, he is smooth as silk."

He added: "He's one of those talented people that from the first time you look at them you know they are going to go somewhere. "He always wanted to be the best, even in training. He and Glen Paxman [fellow Harlow AC member] never missed a training session. Whatever the time was he would be there and doing it."

He added: "No matter how hard the training session he would do it. Glen's early competition really helped him."

Looking ahead, Fisher did not want to get into the prediction game, but looked at what Osagie has to do as a minimum to seal a spot at the London Games.

Osagie was desperately so close to qualifying for the finals of his 800m events at the Commonwealth Games and World Championships. He was fourth in both semi-final heats in 1:47.52 and 1:46.12 respectively.

"Within the next six months he has to be running 1:44 at least. He has got to be capable of doing that," Fisher said.

"He must kick himself at times, when he is that 1/100th of a second away from qualifying for a final."
